ABOUT ME

I'm the author of over twenty critically acclaimed novels published by Penguin Random House, Scholastic, and Little, Brown, and I've ghostwritten novels for dozens of houses and private clients. But I got my start as a teacher. I've led over 500 creative writing workshops and worked with over 1,000 students over the last decade.

I've had my setbacks and struggles as a writer. I believe my unique experience as an author, ghostwriter, and teacher makes me a great guide—and I'd love to show you the way to finally writing all the way to The End.

WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE...

1. Submit your pages before each call (draft, outline, brainstorming, anything!)
2. I'll read and prep for the call
3. We chat for an hour about what's working, what's not, and next steps
4. I send a follow-up email the next day with an action plan (specific steps, prompts, etc) for you to take next
5. Back to step 1. Lather, rinse, repeat!
